Testimonial for Chen Zhuofan (T0374582H)

I have taught Zhuofan from 2017 till present. He is currently in my Sec 4 Express Pure Physics group.

During these period of time, I have observed that he is a polite and resilient student who consistently shows keen interest in his academic subjects and CCA. He demonstrates determination to try his best to improve his performance in school. He is well-liked by his peers and demonstrates good leadership, characters and values. He has good aptitude for STEM-related subjects and I believe he has the potential to do well in these subjects.

I would strongly support his application for the course that he is interested to study and I hope that he will be able to achieve good performance in his studies and contribute to the society in the future.

Yours truly,

Lee Kong Huat
